THE representation made by the Shantung and Honan Conference of Protestant Missionaries to the Diplomatic Body at Peking with reference to the Yellow River will be endorsed by the foreign communities throughout China. From time to time the river bursts its banks and spreads desolation over the districts through which it flows; floods occur, destroying the crops, and appeals envelope containing a SI note, saying at the ing for the time being, so that when have to be made to the charitably disposed to assist the suff ring population during the replied, "It is for you." The Missionary Conference draw attention to the immense loss of life, property, and money caused by the frequently recurring outbreaks of the river; the many appeals made and so nobly responded to both by foreigners and natives the great sums of money used by the Government for the relief of the suffering at 3.30. We understand the match is an out people, and the still more enormous sums constantly set aside by the Government for the requiring of damages and in the attempt to conserve the river; and they express hope that the Foreign Ministers will be moved, if but for the sake of humanity to do what is possible to urge upon the Chinese Government the necessity of trying new plans for controlling the waters. The methods hitherto adopted, they say, have proved quite inadequate and are of doubtful utility, and the petitioners It will be noticed that the Nevy are included respectfully suggest that the Chinese Government be pressed to appoint a commiszion of foreign experts to make a full investigation and report on the best means of preventing these calamities and of utilising the waters which they feel assured might thus cease to be an unmitigated evil and become a source of material prosperity. The suggestion that a commission of foreign experts should be appointed to deal with the problem is a rensible one and it is to be down two days after the Vicercy passed. hoped that the Ministers will urge it upon the Templi Yamen with all the force of which they are capable. Li Hung-chang has bee pointed by the a.m. for this port. Empress-Downger to examine the question on the spot and submit a report thereon. If confidence could only be reposed in En dispterestedness perhaps no better selection sould have been made from the ranks of the Chinese officials, for His Excellency has had intimute intercourse with foreigners of Meat Co., Limited. 9, Fouchurch Avenus. during his long teaure of office at Tientsin. has travelled, has been shown the sights of Europe, and must have some appreciation of Western engineering science. He hates the foreigner, however, and at the present moment his hatred is probably, more intense than ever. Possibly, therefore, he may elect to recommend persistence in the ineffective native methods rather than allow foreigners to confer a benefit on his country. It is to be hoped, however, that he may be able to rise superior to any personal feeling of that kind and to consider the real interests of his country. There is no doubt the Yellow River could be brought under control, but not by Chinese methods.

Henri de la Fère appears disguised as a peasant and is discovered by the General, who has formed a wrong estimate of his character and treats him with contempt, only refraining from condemning him to the usual fate of a spy out of regard for the young lady. De la Fère, however, resents the contempt, the General discovers the error he has made in regard to his character, generously sarrenders his love, and gives plotis improbable and the dialogue melodramatic, but the acting of all three characters was good. Mr. C. H. Grace with his fine presence and intimate knowledge of stage business made an excellent General; Captain Burney showed some dramatic power in the passage in which he delies von Rosenberg; and Mrs. Grace acted with feeling in the part of Blunche. The second piece was "Sugar and Cream," comedictta in one act, by James P. Hurst. The characters were:---

Spruce (her maid) Mr. Wentworth, a widower, and his son Frank are more like brothers than inther and son, and treat each other with considerable tamiliarity. The old gentleman thinks it time his son was married and, having arranged a meeting with Mrs. Mirfield, gives him strict injunctions that he is to propose that very day. He has blandishments. CRIMINAL SESSIONS.

BEFORE SIR JOHN CARRINGTON (CHIEF Justice).

AGAINST A HUSBAND.

Lui Ng was indicted for the manslaughter of his wife, Wong Mui, on the second of Novem-THE FRENCH CHAMBER AND THE ber. On the charge being interpreted to him, Prisoner pleaded guilty but asked his lordship to have mercy upon him. He did not intentionally kill his wife; it was purely accidental. His Lordship-Of course it he had intended to kill her that would have been another offence and he would have been tried for murder.

Prisoner admitted he caused his wife's death

sorry for what he had done. The Acting Attorney-General (Mr. Pollock) said he expected his lordship had read the depositions in the case. It was a case of a very nnusual and somewhat distressing obstractor As his lordship was aware, from the depositions taken at the Police Court, the deceased woman was prisoner's wife and was at the time prisoner inflicted this blow upon her pregnant, and it was a very unusual kind of pregnancy—that is an extra uterine pregnancy—and the medical evidence given at the Police Court by Dr. Bell was to the effect that in such a case the result was almost invariably fatal in the ordinary. course of things, apart from any violence. That being so, in preparing the inductment in this case he framed it as one of manslaughter and not one would be justified in assuming the blow was given with the intention of inflicting death upon this unfortunate woman. There was no doubt upon the man's own confession and upon his statement, that he did inflict a blow upon deceased, but in view of the fact that prisoner did not intend to cause death, and also in view of the fact that there undoubtedly was a quarrel going on for some minutes before the blow was struck between prisoner and deceased, he would submit to the court that this was a case of a very populiar character in which death could no possibly have been foreseen as the result of the blow, and therefore he would ask his lordship to take a moreiful view of the case. His Lordship addressing prisoner, said he seemed to him that it was quite clear prisoner was afraid she seemed to be a bad-tempered woman, and according to the evidence of one of the witnesses, a lazy woman. On occasion prisoner complained that she had not got his meal ready for him, and then they got into a quarrel which for some time. According to his statement be threatened her with a bamboo pole which apparently was handy in the room, and bound up.) There was only evidence of one blow on her person, and that blow unfortunately fell in a place where she was so to speak diseased. That blow caused her death under the circumstances mentioned by the Attorney-General The Attorney-General had very properly the Court might be lenient with him, and he agreed with him, and would therefore sentence prisoner only to a short. term of imprisonment. A Chinese official at Shanghai, a friend and fellow-provincial of the exiled Sir Chang Yinhuan and who note as the latter's financial agent there, received the other day a personally written letter from Sir Chang dated from a city six days' journey west of Pactingfu. In it Sir Chang complains of the large amounts lie has been "squeezed" en route by his guards—the guards being changed with every city passedand stating that already nearly 60,000 strings of cash had been muleted from him in order to purchase ordinary good treatment at the hands of rapacions yomen runners. These often threaten to starve their victim and take away the mule litter which he had hired at exorbitant rates, and make him walk to his place of banishment wherever a demur was made at the demands made on him. In consequence of this the ready cash in the hands of his confidential agent, who follows the pitiable cortage for the special purpose of dispensing these bribes, has become shortened considerably and the agent at Shanghai was instructed to sell a number of shares in commercial investments held by the latter on behalf of the unfortunate ex-Minister, and send the proceeds post haste by Shanti Bankers to meet the exile at Lauchou, the capital of Kansu province. It is further stated that Chang's people in Canton have also been told to transmit money to Kansu, to provide for these emergencies .- N. C. Daily News.

BRITISH NORTH BORNEO.

MARCH OF PROGRESS. The British North Bornes Herald notes steady progress in planting enterprise there. Coccanut growing finds increasing favour. Sixty dores planted with young trees on Numuyon Lant sold for $4,250, while Puloh Dat near Labuan fetched about $15,000, and $2,090 was paid for a small plantation near the Byte. In the neighbourhood of Sandakan itself Malays are enquiring for cocount land. At other places large ceas have been brought under this palm. Of tobacce, good reports have been received. On the Kinabatongan estates, the prospects of good crops are hopeful, as are these of the plantation at Lahat Datas At Marudu Bay those who ought to knew consider that the estates will yield an average of from B to 10 piculs. As regards coffee, the Taritipan estate promises a higher yield than that of last year. It is expected that the 1899 yield will be about 900 piculs. Of other products, pepper (in Chinese hands) is giving a handsome profit. Hemp is doing well, and only needs machinery to make it a profitable crop and the same may be said of Rhon. Tapioca enitivated in Marudu Bay has been valued on sample at the high
